(Tom Lodewyck (Jack Carter) and Dan Bell (Dan White) after the premiere)

The theatrical premiere of The Penny took place this past Saturday in Madison, WI where the film played to a packed audience. It was a great time spent catching up with many of the cast and crew whom we hadn't seen in a long time. A number of people from the community also came out for this one time chance to see The Penny on the big screen. Another highlight of the evening was the surprise appearance of our good friend (and script consultant on the film) Bob Christian who flew all the way up from Texas for the event!

Even if you didn't make it out to the premiere, you don't have much longer to wait before getting your hands on a copy of the film. Tomorrow marks the official release of The Penny on DVD in stores across the country as well! We'll let you know exactly where you can find the film for purchase as soon as it's released.
